

Atlanta Rap Artist TI Offered Plea Deal

Written by Robert ID4192

Thursday, 28 February 2008 22:46 -

In October of 2007 hip hop / rap artist T.I. was arrested on federal gun charges just hours before he was scheduled to perform at the BET Hip Hop Awards by federal authorities.

The Atlanta based hip hop rap artist T.I., aka Clifford Joseph Harris, Jr., has been offered a 15 year prison term plea agreement by federal prosecuting attorney David E. Nahmias on his current weapons charges.

The hip hop star was arrested in a federal sting after his bodyguard-turned-informant, delivered three machine guns and two silencers to the hip-hop rapper, according to a Justice Department statement.

This sentence offered to the rap star T.I. may be reduced. The hip hop artists' lawyers are in negotiation presently.

Go to www.Yashin.TV for the Video Story.