

The hidden track of poet Jeanne Spicuzza's self-titled CD, an international slam-winning sensation, has hit the Top 40 charts. The spoken word selection, currently ranked on Amazon.com, is slated to appear in the upcoming feature film "Making Angels" directed by "Daughter's of the Dust," Directors Guild of America Award-nominee Julie Dash. In the new foreword of her latest poetry collection, Beautiful Terrible & True, Len Dacquist writes, "Like her namesake Jeanne d' Arc, Jeanne came from humble beginnings in a small city and seeing a vision and purpose to her life, left her roots and traveled to a center of culture to marshal her forces and prepare for a long struggle against oppression, a mirror of her own struggle within."

"Jeanne Spicuzza" is available through Inoculation Records and Amazon.com. "Making Angels" is scheduled to commence production in September 2005. For schedule, appearances and bookings, visit www.seasonsandamuse.com

Jeanne Marie Spicuzza: a poet, screenwriter, producer and actor, Ms. Spicuzza has performed internationally at festivals and venues like Lollapalooza, Ladyfest, Pabst Theatre and Nuyorican Poets Café. She has appeared on BBC Radio, WMSE, ROR FM Italia and others. Published in "Poetry Motel," "Quill & Parchment" and "Poets Against the War" and more, Ms. Spicuzza is currently in pre-production of two much-anticipated feature films, "Making Angels" and "Breath of God."

Visit the web site HERE .