

First Single from Hip Hop Icon Tupac's Upcoming Album

Written by Robert ID3059

Tuesday, 10 October 2006 08:02 -

The first single from the new Tupac (2Pac) album is now available for streaming. The track is from the 6th posthumously released studio album from the late hip hop icon.

The album has a street release date of November 21, 2006.

This track features the late hip hop icon 2Pac and the legendary hip hop group Bone Thugs-N-Harmony and is produced by Swizz Beatz. The song is called "Untouchable".

Feedback on the first track has been mixed, but true fans are waiting to see what else this newest posthumous drop from the legendary hip hop icon has in store.

There are many rumors but not any verified information yet. Information on the album is expected in the near future but the time that many fans of the late hip hop icon, and the man who many consider the G.O.A.T. in the rap game has come. With the first single out we can only look to the release date in November.

To hear the new Tupac single "Untouchable" click HERE .