West coast rap artist The Game couldn't get a break at the Entertainers Basketball Classic on Tuesday. The rap artists' team had been trailing, and moments after they finally pulled into the lead, with minutes to go in the game, a fight broke out on the court, and the tournament was called.

Details are sketchy, but we saw an unknown onlooker charge onto the court and bum rushed the west coast hip-hop rapper. Security then ushered the hip hop rap star to a secure area.

This occurred ten minutes after an earlier altercation, when an onlooker yelled something and the notorious rap artist responded angrily. Intentions were good earlier on as The Game greeted fans at Rucker Park, and handed out CDs.
