What does Bad Boy Latino, Universal, Asylum (Warner Brothers), Capital, and Atlantic Records have in common? They were all bidding for Latino superstar rap artist Chingo Bling from Houston, Texas. On April 1, 2006, Chingo Bling will announce to the world, which he chose during an interview on the Chicano Radio Network U.S.A.

Chingo Bling shot on to the country's Urban scene with his hit single "Walk like Cleto" about his pet rooster. This hit not only showed Chingo's ability to get peoples attention with humor, but it also showed what was soon to come out of his camp called "Big Chile Enterprises".

Today Chingo enjoys numerous releases from coast to coast with other mainstream hip-hop, rap and Latino artists like Baby Bash, Pit Bull, Pow Wow, Fat Joe, Nina Sky, Paul Wall, Mike Jones, Slim Thug, and NORE.

In recent months Big Chile Enterprises has showed its entrepreneurial might with DVD distribution of its "Manositas" series, as well as the Chingo Boots, bibs, coloring books, and other items.

"I anticipate Big Chile Enterprises advancing Latino Entertainment in to the future much like Berry Gordy did with Black Entertainment at Motown. And with their no short cut policy, I am confident that their products of high integrity will continue to make the Latino Community proud."
