Hip Hop artist Fabolous has teamed up with two of the hottest names in hip hop music on the new single being released to radio this week. "Make Me Better" - featuring Ne-Yo (who is set to release his sophomore set on May 1) and produced by red-hot hip hop producer Timbaland, is the follow up to the street and club smash "Diamonds" featuring another hip hop notable Young Jeezy.

Hip Hop artist Fabolous will release his long-awaited new fourth album, FROM NOTHIN" TO SOMETHIN", on June 12th. Alongside Ne-Yo, Timbaland and Young Jeezy, the album features a host of hip hop notables like producers Just Blaze, Jermaine Dupri, Polow Da Don, Jazzy Pha, Steve Morales and guest hip hop artists like Rihanna, Akon, Swizz Beats, and Lloyd.

Starting in 2001, Bed-Stuy's Fabolous, whose real name is John Jackson, was featured on a number of singles and album tracks, most notably beautiful hip hop and R&B artist Lil" Mo's Top 10 crossover hit "Superwoman." Fab's singles chart debut happened that summer with his career defining "Can"t Deny It," featuring Nate Dogg, on Desert Storm (via Elektra's East-West division).

It was followed by the second solid pop/R&B/rap crossover "Young"n (Holla Back)," both from the nearly self-titled debut album Ghetto Fabolous (one of history's fateful albums to be released Sept. 11, 2001), which reached #2 R&B and #4 pop, and was certified RIAA platinum.

In early-2002, the Barbershop movie soundtrack album spun off a new Top 20 hit by Fabolous, "Trade It All" (featuring P. Diddy and Jagged Edge). The track was later added as a bonus track on Street Dreams, Fab's second Desert Storm album, released March 2003. The platinum album also contained the massive Top 5 hits "Can"t Let You Go" (featuring Lil" Mo and Desert Storm's Mike Shorey) and "Into You" (featuring Tamia). The subsequent mixtape released in November, More Street Dreams Pt. 2, climbed to Top 10 R&B and Top 30 pop.

It has been more than two years now since the release of Real Talk in November 2004. The album rose to #2 on the R&B and rap charts and #6 on the pop side on the strength of its breakout first single, "Breathe," which crossed from #2 rap and #4 R&B to Top 10 pop. FROM NOTHIN" TO SOMETHIN" marks the first new album released by Fabolous in more than two years.
