

C-Murder to Release New Album

Written by Robert ID802

Monday, 31 January 2005 20:09 -

KOCH Records will release C-Murder's new album, *The Truest * I Ever Said* on March 22nd.

Working and recording while serving time, C-Murder has assembled an amazing array of artists that will appear on the album including Soulja Slim, B.G., Akon, Capone and many more.

C-Murder is back and better than ever on his first single, "Y'all Heard," which features southern hip hop favorite B.G. and will be going for adds at urban radio shortly. A video for the single, shot in prison and New Orleans, will be available in mid-February. The song is already garnering huge radio phones in New Orleans and Baton Rouge.

Talking about his new album, C-Murder says "This record is real street; I'm kickin' it back to the streets. It's about the trials and tribulations of my life. People will be able to relate to it."

C-Murder first burst onto the hip hop scene as a member of TRU, a trio super-group that also featured his brothers Master P and Silkk The Shocker. Their first album, True, was released in 1995 and was followed by Tru 2 Da Game in 1997. During that year, C-Murder appeared on a number of No Limit releases, including Master P's Ghetto D and the I'm Bout It soundtrack. In the spring of 1998, he finally released his solo debut, Life or Death.

Bossalinie followed a year later.

In 2000, C-Murder reached superstar status, first with his appearance in the 504 Boyz smash hit, "Wobble Wobble"; then with his third and most successful album yet, Trapped in Crime, propelled by the commercial success of its C-Murder/Snoop Dogg/Magic collaboration, "Down for My N's." This album also signaled the launch of Tru Records, C-Murder's new label.

His 2000 release, Tru Dawgs, was preceded by tragedy when C-Murder was arrested and sentenced in a controversial nightclub shooting. He went to jail right after the album was finished and has been there ever since.

Now, four years later, *The Truest * I Ever Said* will remind C-Murder fans about just what they've been missing.

C-Murder to Release New Album

Written by Robert ID802

Monday, 31 January 2005 20:09 -

Tracklisting for C-Murders The Truest * I Ever Said (subject to change):

1 Hard For A.G. (feat. Magic & Fiend)

2. My Life

3. Holla At Me (feat. Soulja Slim)

4. Locked Up REMIX (feat. Akon)

5. Hustla's Wife

6. Y'all Heard

7. Cammo (feat. Mac & Curren$y)

8. Stressin' (feat. Fat Joe)

9. Whatever Boy

10. I Heard U Was Lookin' For Me (feat. Capone & Montez)

C-Murder to Release New Album

Written by Robert ID802

Monday, 31 January 2005 20:09 -

11. Back Up

12. Mama How U Figure?

13. I Know I Live In The Ghetto

14. Started Small Time

15. Did U Hold It Down?