

Holiday Seasons Greetings

Written by Robert ID608

Saturday, 25 December 2004 08:28 -

Since we have so many visitors from so many cultures and areas of the globe, we do realize that it is Christmas for many of you and we wish the best of the season to you.

Also out of respect for all our brothers and sisters, we also do not want to 'isolate' anyone. That is why we did not have the big Merry Christmas greeting. Our purpose was not to "offend"; not to "ignore". We need to understand that we are all different people. The Creator takes His shape in different ways to different people.

I have received e-mail asking why we did not wish everyone a Merry Christmas. The holiday many call Christmas is a Christian holiday.

I know we have many different religions that visit the site. I know cause I answer all email and have got to know a few of the visitors. So to 'try' to amend this we offer the following.

If we have left anyone out please let me know. And if you believe in nothing that is fine to. We all have the freedom to choose what we believe in. Where our convictions fall. So to all:

Merry Christmas, Blessed Solstice, Happy Hanukkah, Serene Kwanzaa and on or around Jan. 21 ^{st.} will be The Festival of the Sacrifice (Eid al-Adha) for my Islamic Muslim brothers and sisters

The best of the seasons and peace unto all of you; you are all appreciated.----TLA Admin.

Holiday Seasons Greetings

Written by Robert ID608

Saturday, 25 December 2004 08:28 -
