There is talk that T-Pain's Mother and Cousin, and Daz Dillinger's Mother, and Snoop Dogg's Aunt, and Cousin by marriage have started an organization called the Mothers of the Hip Hop Generation and that they are quickly getting a lot of support from Executives in the Music Industry, Several Key Hip Hop and Rap artists, and Key Politicians.

Here is the skinny:

The Mothers of the Hip Hop Generation is an organization to streamline and place images and lyrics received in hip-hop and other hip-hop influences in perspective, for the audience. But also, they are not going to only hold conferences and speak, but they are going to be a full service grassroots organization. In other words, they are not going to say go to school and get your education, they are going to register the child in school and make it easy for them to attend and show them how to excel. Of course, this may or may not be literal. But it is a great analogy!

Here is the skinny on the relationship, it's crazy. Feel free to google these women, they are legitimate in their work. It was interesting when I found this on the net. Just thought you guys wanted to know because I didn't see anybody talking about it.

The women or the Hip Hop Mommas are:
