ProHipHop, the web's core resource for hip hop marketing and business news, now offers a rich selection of blogs and news sources for entertainment seekers and news junkies operating on the breaking edge of digital society. The newly launched ProHipHop News Center also provides a central location for those wanting to keep an eye on such characters!

The ProHipHop News Center presents news mixes from the top hip hop magazines, websites and blogs as well as related blends on themes ranging from sneakers & streetwear to entertainment marketing to the business of blogging.

Each news mix has a customized grabbable search widget of the originating sites and is available as an RSS feed or through multiple subscription options ranging from email to Skype.

Possible Uses for the ProHipHop News Center:

Scanning daily blog posts and news items for entertainment or information gathering.

Discovering world class blogs and news sources.

Gathering or subscribing to feeds and widgets for access elsewhere.

The creation of the ProHipHop News Center brings together lessons learned in such projects as the netweed Web Directory (<http://www.netweed.com/directory>) and World Cypher (<http://www.worldcypher.com>)

). It is intended to expand ProHipHop's news services beyond the daily blog posts at ProHipHop and related press releases at Hip Hop Press (

<http://www.hiphoppress.com>

) to offer a more complete news gathering and information service in one central location.
